

KIDNAP GANG'S HIDE-OUT MAIN OBJECTIVE NOW

Identities of Weyerhaeuser Snatchers Probably Unknown to Police

BULLETIN

Salt Lake City, June 8—(AP)—Concentration here today of Department of Justice agents was regarded as giving credence to reports a number of Weyerhaeuser ransom bills had been passed here in the last few days.

The Federal agents were maintaining a strict silence, but it was reported 20 of the ransom bills had been taken in at local stores and had not been recognized until they were deposited in banks here.

Tacoma, Wash., June 8—(AP)—Searchers by air and on the ground for the hideaway haunt used in the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping widened today as strong indications were given that the identities of the abductors were unknown both to federal agents and police.

A report that 20 federal reserve notes from the $200,000 ransom were found yesterday in bank receipts at Salt Lake City was followed by another that E. F. Connelly, federal agent in charge of affairs here, was missing from his office today.

A Seattle newspaper (Post-Intelligencer) which carried the report said it was reported he had left by airplane for Salt Lake City to direct a search there.

Hideout May Be Key.

Indications that names of the abductors of the nine-year-old boy who was released a week ago still were unknown to officers came when authorities revealed the "two gabled" hideout house holds the key to their identities through fingerprints. The house was believed abandoned by the gangsters.

An authoritative source disclosed the young kidnap victim had told specially what parts of the house he saw his captors touch with un-gloved hands.

The child said the house was gray, with two gables and "near water and a railroad curve."

The six gangsters, the young lumber heir stated, wore masks and used the names "Alvin" and "Harry" in addressing each other. It is believed the gang cleverly used the names in the child's presence to throw searches on the trails of Alvin Karpis and Harry Campbell, wanted criminals. When the building is located, officials said fingerprints on furniture and other objects doubtless would reveal the identities of its occupants, should they have criminal records.

Two Theories Advanced.

Two theories were advanced on the identities of the extortionists. One was that the passing of $20 ransom bank notes at Huntington, Ore., and Spokane, indicated the abductors were not an organized gang.

"Professionals" would seek to dispose of such "hot" money, officials said, through underworld connections rather than at towns where presence of the bills would indicate the route of flight.

Another theory was that most of the gang had sufficient money for immediate needs, while leaving the ransom currency "planted" and lying low.

Los Angeles, June 8—(AP)—It required the whole page of the register for one man to get a room at a Los Angeles hotel. The guest was Col. Republicans Told to Quit "Pussyfooting" in Pinning His Unkept Promises on President Roosevelt Springfield, Ill., June 8—(AP)—Demands that the Republicans "quit pussyfooting" in their attacks on President Roosevelt rang in the ears of delegates to the "grass roots" convention today.

Chairman Harrison E. Spangler of Iowa said a summary of suggestions already submitted by delegates showed "they want to quit pussyfooting. They believe it is time to pin broken promises of the last campaign on the president of the United States."

TO SAVE FRIENDS

Enid, Okla., June 8—(AP)—Dr. Guy E. Brewer, the soft spoken country doctor against whom authorities filed six charges of murder by abortion, declared today he held "no malice at all" in the face of a four-year prison sentence.

"I am glad the ordeal is over," said the physician whose money had helped give many youths a college education.

He pleaded guilty yesterday to second degree manslaughter charges and was sentenced to serve four years in each case, the terms to run concurrently. The charges had been reduced from murder.

"I pleaded guilty to keep so many of my friends from being dragged through an embarrassing court procedure—the matter is closed now, and lots of people have been relieved of anxiety, for the county attorney had planned to bring many people into this case who are innocent."

INSULLS, STUART ALONE FACE U. S. JURORS TUESDAY

Cummings Orders Dismissal Six Other Co-Defendants

Chicago, June 8—(AP)—United States Attorney General Michael L. Igoe today was notified by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings to dismiss charges against all but four persons—the three Insulls and Harold L. Stuart—in the forthcoming Insull bankruptcy law violation trial.

The action will leave only Samuel Insull, his son, Samuel Jr., his brother, Martin, and Stuart to face the charges. Trial had been set for Tuesday.

Those against whom charges will be dropped are Stanley Field, Edward J. Doyle, Philip J. McEnroe, John F. O'Keefe, William R. Irwin and Charles W. Daniels. All were either directors or officials of Insull utilities companies.

The defendants and John H. Gullick, who died last year, were charged with transferring $2,500,000 from the assets of Corporation Securities Company to preferred creditors in contemplation of bankruptcy.

3,400,000-POUND TOWER OF WORLD FAIR RIDE DOWN

Marked End of Project Which 4,320,000 Patronized in 2 Years

Chicago, June 8—(AP)—The 3,400,000-pound west tower of a Century of Progress Sky Ride crashed to earth with a roar this morning. A relatively small crowd including world's fair officials and members of the firm wrecking the fair, saw the enormous pile of steel lean slowly to the east. Then, buckling like a giant falling to its knees, it crumbled forward and stretched its 268 feet length toward the lagoon.

A blast of dynamite separated the stay plates holding 16 heavy cables which moored the tower. Even as the dust settled a crew of workers with acetylene torches and a crane began taking the giant's twisted and torn carcass to pieces.

Once dismantled, the steel will be sent to mills for refabrication. The task of dissection will require 15 days, wrecking officials said.

Was $1,200,000 Project

This was the end of a $1,200,000 project, the cost of the skyride to which 4,320,000 persons paid admission during the two seasons of a Century of Progress. From the 628-foot high observation platforms which topped each of the towers, four states—Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin—were visible on clear days.

The wrecking was kept secret because of the danger involved, but a crowd who had learned of it—possibly a thousand or two—gathered, most of them with cameras, to watch the spectacle. An area 1000 feet square was roped off and guarded by more than 100 city and special policemen.

A. H. Lubin, president of the firm of Barker, Goldman & Lubin, Springfield, Ill., which has the fair wrecking contract, said it was not decided when the east tower, of identical proportions, will be wrecked.

Aged Cuban Set Free by Kidnapers Today

Havana, June 8—(AP)—Antonio San Miguel, 78-year-old railroad magnate, was released today after three days in the hands of kidnapers but refused to say whether the $286,000 demanded ransom was paid.

Dirty and unshaven, the financier was freed only three blocks from his home.

He said he believed he was held on a farm about 20 miles from Havana. He said his captors treated him roughly. Asserting he wanted to take a bath and rest, San Miguel refused to see newspapermen.

ALDERMAN INDICTED

Quincy, Ill.—The Adams county grand jury brought to 11 the number indicted on charges growing out of the April 2 mayoral election when it indicted Alderman Roy Bergman, charging him with aiding H. W. Graber to cast an illegal ballot, and five others, including Graber. The jury recommended more stringent registration laws.

The lines serve the tri-state lead and zinc mining area and the entire field was dark. Guards were increased at mines and plants as a result of the blasts.

The courthouse here was converted into a temporary barracks for the troops who were ordered into the field late yesterday by Gov. Alf M. London.

No Changes in Annual Appropriations Made

No changes were made in the annual appropriation ordinance filed with City Clerk Blake C. Grover before its adoption by the members of the city council at the regular weekly meeting last evening. The appropriation reduces the city's expenditures approximately $10,000 over last year.

Elmer Tolan of this city was granted a license to conduct a taxi and the list of bills for the month of May were read and ordered paid.

"OL' MAN RIVER" ABSORBED BULK OF FLOOD WATER

Mississippi is Not Expected to Show Any Undue Dangers

St. Louis, June 8—(AP)—The Mississippi river today was stemming the watery desolation that swept through four states down the Republican, Kaw and Missouri rivers.

As if contemptuous of their ravages, "Ol' Man River," burdened to flood stages in the vicinity of St. Louis, was expected to rise only slightly and to cause no serious damage under the pounding of the Missouri's crests.

Meanwhile, in the wake of receding waters, rehabilitation progressed from Colorado and Nebraska into Kansas, where preparations were being made to put 25,000 men and women to work for at least a month.

Federal relief funds were to finance the job of cleaning up Kansas, where the falling Republican and Kaw left a debris-laden path of destruction. An expenditure of over $1,000,000 in 51 counties is planned in that state.

Pounding down a last levee as a final gesture near St. Charles, Mo., yesterday, the Missouri river was falling in the western part of its namesake state and was predicted to fall at all points along its winding course by tomorrow.

Mussolini Says He'll Settle Old Accounts

Cagliari, Sardinia, June 8—(AP)—Premier Mussolini told soldiers departing for East Africa today "we have an old and a new account to settle" with Ethiopia "and we will settle them."

Apparently referring to Great Britain's openly expressed opposition to Italy's policy in Africa, Il Duce said the accounts would be settled without taking "any account of what is said beyond the frontier."

Speaking to 20,000 soldiers of the Sabauda division and a huge crowd of blackshirts, the Fascist dictator made a sharp and pointed reference to England.

"We will initiate to the letter those who try to teach us a lesson," he said. "They demonstrated that when they were creating an empire by defending it they never took into consideration world opinion."

Kans. Troops Called Out After Dynamiting

Columbus, Kas., June 8—(AP)—Two lines of the Empire District Electric Company were dynamited early today as a battalion of Kansas National Guardsmen arrived here after a reported outbreak between striking union miners and non-union men.

The lines serve the tri-state lead and zinc mining area and the entire field was dark. Guards were increased at mines and plants as a result of the blasts.

Power and light service in Baxter Spring, Trece and Roverton, Kas., and Picher, Okla., was disrupted, but partially restored a few hours later.

JOAN OF ARC RIDES AGAIN!

Banners waved, trumpets blared and the pages of history magically turned back five centuries as Joan of Arc rode again over the cobbled streets of Compeigne, France, in a colorful pageant commemorating the feat of arms by which the sainted Maid of Orleans drove the English from the city in 1430. This interesting photo of the ceremony shows the "Maid" in shining armor astride her charger passing the city's ancient cathedral.

SAME OLD STORY

Washington, June 8—(AP)—The capital expects all debtor nations but Finland to follow Great Britain's lead and again refuse to meet war debt payments due the United States June 15.

In answer to a polite "reminder" from Secretary Hull that the British government would owe the United States $85,670,000 on June 15 in addition to arrears totalling about $380,000,000, Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, gave notice of the new default.

He said that Britain had despatched a note last June explaining why his government had been unable to pay pending the "negotiation of a final revised settlement."

Finland, the only European nation which has made all payments when due, is expected to remit on schedule.

Madison Pupils at Loss for Another Strike Move

Madison, Ill., June 8—(AP)—Three hundred Madison high school students were at a loss today for a next step in their fight to gain reappointments for Supt. E. W. Heob and Principal S. M. Sprout.

Their leaders talked sinuously of "next fall" as the school board last night at a tumultuous meeting voted again not to reappoint the two educators.

A mass walkout from classes in support of Heob and Sprout was cut short last week by final examinations and the closing of school for the summer.

New York, June 8—(AP)—Motor vehicle production in May was 377,754 units, according to a preliminary estimate of the Automobile Manufacturers Association. This is an 8 per cent increase over May of last year and a 25 per cent decrease from April this year.

On the basis of this estimate the industry's output for the year to date almost reached the two-million mark. Five months production amounted to 1,988,637 cars and trucks, a 35 per cent increase over the same period of last year.

SWEITZER WILL FIGHT OUSTER BY COOK BOARD

His Successor, Named by Board, Furnished Bond Last Night

Chicago, June 8—(AP)—Joseph L. Gill today formally reopened the office of Cook county treasurer with most legal technicalities swept aside.

The confusion which followed the ouster of Robert M. (Smiling Bob) Sweitzer because an audit of the books of the county clerk's office showed a shortage reputed to be $414,129, prevented the opening of the treasurer's office all day yesterday.

Sweitzer, a leading vote getter for the Democratic party, had served as county clerk 24 years and was elected to the treasury post last November.

Gill qualified as treasurer last night after wealthy friends supplied $3,000,000 in bonds until Monday, when 19 regular surety companies will complete arrangements to underwrite him.

Sweitzer Will Fight

Sweitzer, maintaining that his removal by the Cook county commissioners was illegal, was reported planning a court fight against the ouster. Meanwhile the county board waited for Sweitzer to turn over the money they claimed was due and which the ousted official has promised to pay.

Assistant State's Attorney William J. Touhy said, "a civil action will be filed in the event Sweitzer does not return the money, but I cannot state exactly what its nature will be."

Robert E. Garrigan, secretary of the City Club of Chicago, filed a civil suit for $350,000 charging Sweitzer with malfeasance in office. The action was brought under a statute which permits a private citizen to be a plaintiff in such a suit.

Shanghai, June 9—(Sunday)—China's 32nd army, considered among China's best troops, today began moving toward Tientsin, where Sino-Japanese relations apparently are approaching some sort of crisis.

London, June 8—(AP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tientsin today said continued maneuvers of Japanese troops and the departure of Maj. Gen. Doihara from Mukden for Tientsin increased fears that an outbreak of hostilities was imminent.

Alleged anti-Japanese activities in the region of the Great Wall also contributed to the increasingly ominous situation, the dispatch said.

The Exchange Telegraph reported General Shang-Chen had reopened the garrison previously evacuated here as result of Japanese pressure.

A military delegation headed by Maj. Gen. Isagai, military attaché of the Japanese embassy at Shanghai, meanwhile left for Peiping, the dispatch said, to serve "final warning" on the Peiping branch of the Chinese military council.

MIXED PICKLES.

By Joseph Fort Newton.

JOHN POWYS has written a big book about himself, in which he undresses both body and soul before an open window with the light turned on. It makes us blush, because it shows us ourselves too.

Every such book, as Bernard Shaw said, must be a lie, because no man can tell the truth about himself, even when he tries to do so. Either he will make himself too good or too bad, and spoil the picture.

To a normal man—if such a being exists—the man Powys describes, so candidly, is a mass of contradictions, a mixture of mysticism and meanness, sentiment and sensuality, dirt, devil and deity.

Proud and humble, skeptical and superstitious, he is idealistic, yet empty of morals. Wise in his own way, he calls himself half crazy, compounded of the oldest wisdom and the latest folly.

Full of affection, yet heartless; hating cruelty ferociously, yet he says he is almost a sadist. Ideas, appetites, virtues, vices, obsessions, manias, attractions, repugnances, aspirations made a medley.

Here is no weakling. Only a strong man can carry such violent baggage for sixty years and not go to pieces; and at sixty he is going better, it seems, than ever—facing toward sunset serenely.

How familiar it is all, because it is only a heightened, untouched portrait of each one of us. For we are a queer lot, mixed pickles all of us, good, bad, crazy, cruel, kind and cunning by turns.

In ourselves we can find what is in all men, in some degree, and that ought to help us to know love, pity and understand our fellow. If they do terrible things, it is only what we might have done. Maybe all these things ought not to be inside the same skin, but here they are. Our job is to take the raw stuff of life and learn the art of shaping it into some form of beauty after some design.

Else the mixture will be just a muddle and a mess. What we need is a faith, a flash of light, a magnetic spiritual force to unify our igner chaos, turning a caricature of life into character.

My mop and my pail, they haunt-

NRA BREAKDOWN CALLS FOR CHANGED PLANS
It is generally taken for granted that the administration and the business community must find a new method of bringing about business recovery, in view of the supreme court's RA decision, and that this method must include some better system than applying those controls which fell to the ground in the chicken case.
Since most people agree that something in the nature of a constitutional amendment would be necessary to bring this about, it is apparent that any such program would take a very long time to put into operation.
It might be more stimulating to look in an entirely different direction. The reversal of NRA fortunes unquestionably brings the New Deal program to a halt; but the field of government control of business is not the only one in which a fresh course could well be charted.
For it is worth remembering that the NRA was not merely a scheme for integrating the business world through government action. Its basic philosophy was the notion that recovery could not take place unless prices were kept up, and this, in the condition of the last few years, was possibly only through restriction of supply.
As the NRA collapses, the chance of putting this polity into effect collapses also; and it is worth asking ourselves whether a change of course in this field might not be advisable.

When you try to bring about recovery by maintaining good prices you run the risk of mistaking the symptom for the disease. Falling prices, or a low price level generally, are not the cause of bad times; they are the result of bad times.
If you undertake to boost these prices by cutting down on the available supply of goods, you are not getting at the underlying trouble. The real trouble is the fact that production at a profit is not possible for the bulk of the producers.
In other words, it is the flow of goods itself, rather than the price level at which the flow is taking place, that is important. And the downfall of the NRA may give us an excellent chance to re-orient our policy so as to deal with the trouble itself instead of with its painful symptoms.
We have been trying, so far, to bring about prosperity through the control of an artificial scarcity. In some ways this has borne an unfortunate resemblance to the labors of a man who tries to lift himself by his own bootstraps. We may be better off if we get away from the notion that we can help ourselves by the use of scarcity, and turn to the idea of trying to work the trick by stimulating abundance.

FEWER HOUSES
Homes have been disappearing. There are actually fewer houses in the United States than there were three years ago, according to Walter S. Schmidt, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Destruction—wearing out, burning and tearing down—has been going on faster than new construction.
Meanwhile the population has kept right on growing, increasing the scarcity of homes.
There are still some vacant houses and apartments,
to be sure, but they are fewer than ever before recorded.
In Detroit residential vacancies of all types in April were only 26 per thousand, in suburbs of New York 28 per thousand, and in Omaha 14 per thousand. There would not be that many today.
The existing margin of rentable or purchasable homes itself is due to families doubling up. If they suddenly doubled, there would not be homes enough for them in the United States; many would have to live in tents. They might do that for the summer, but they could not do it next winter.
There must be more building. And therefore there will be more building. The construction industry has begun to revive. It will doubtless continue improving this year and may be really good next year. Meanwhile rents and purchase prices are rising, to the great relief of owners almost ruined by the deflation. Real estate evidently is going to be good again.

"THESE G-GUYS"
Another compliment comes to the sleuths of the federal Department of Justice, and from a high authority. Volney Davis, prominent thug belonging to the Barker-Karpis "mob," pleading guilty to conspiracy in the Bremer kidnapping case said:
"It's no use trying to beat these G-guys. They had it on me. The minute they read that indictment, I could see they knew as much about the kidnapping as I did. They had the straight stuff—almost exactly as it was pulled.
I'm glad it's over with. I'll take the book (life imprisonment) and be done with the thing."
Good Americans thrill with satisfaction at every new demonstration of this effective coping with violent crime, after long failure, by using the resources of the federal government to do what state and local resources have failed to do. This sort of activity may seem, in many cases, an invasion of state rights or duties, but the states themselves welcome the help.

Americans are not well schooled. There are 64-000,000 in the country who have not finished high school, 32,000,000 have not finished the eighth grade and only
1,200,000 have finished college.—J. W. Studebaker, U.
S. commissioner of education.

Opportunity for youth is restricted by the machine age, by the rise and dominance of capital in the world.—
William Allen White, Kansas publisher.

THE TINY TINKLES

"Oh, I love ten pins," Scouty
said. "I'd rather play that game instead of any that I know of. I am good, I will admit."
"But, first, I would suggest that we just watch the gnomes so we can see if they are really any good,
when they are playing it."
"That's fair enough," a gnome replied. "You Tinytinkles stay on the side, and don't get in the way of any balls that we may throw."
"I will not be a bit surprised if my game is the best."
Of course the game made lots of noise. It didn't irritate the boys, but both the Tiny girls jumped high each time a hit was made.
They held their ears and Dotty
cried. "Oh, gee, I guess I'll run and hide, to save both of my ears."
"They will burst, I am afraid."

DAILY HEALTH

Those best acquainted with hypnotism feel its employment is not justifiable except for specific medical purposes. There is no discredit in being hypnotizable, but the average person is liable to feel stigmatized when shown to what he may consider unduly susceptible to suggestion.
Medically, hypnotism has two main uses. It may be employed for investigation and also as treatment.
Hypnotism is used to discover the forgotten experiences of a patient. In the waking stage, he may find it impossible to remember certain painful experiences. When the individual is hypnotized, certain blocks, as they are called,
which interfere with the recalling of painful or unpleasant experiences are removed and the physician can explore more fully the patient's past emotional experiences.
This added knowledge often gives the psychiatrist the insight necessary for effective treatment.
Therapeutically, that is, as a means of treatment, hypnotism
may be employed to relieve the patient of serious symptoms, even when the exact cause has not been determined. Complete cure presumably depends upon the uncovering and the removing of the cause, but when an individual suffers say, from hysteria paralysis which keeps him bedridden and the paralysis can be relieved by suggestion, this treatment cannot be rejected merely because it does not uncover the underlying cause.
Two common and widespread superstitions relative to hypnotism need be noted. First, the hypnotized individual is not clairvoyant.
He has no peculiar power of interpreting the future. Secondly, the hypnotized person does not merely because he is under suggestion, prove more liable to commit crime. If the hypnotist orders anti-social conduct the subject usually shows his natural resistance
by refusing to accept the suggestions and often awakens.

TRAVELOGUE OF
SOUTH AMERICA
HELD INTEREST

Miss Geisenheimer Gave
Travel Club Treat
Last Evening

Miss Anna Geisenheimer took a trip around South America, "looking it over"; found everything was "too wonderful to express," and as a result an attentive audience of the Foreign Travel Club sat en-rapt in interest as Miss Geisen-heimer, in her inimitable, sparkling way, unraveled her odyssey step by step at the home of Mrs. Eustace E. Shaw, Friday night.
She began her travelogue by portraying the beauties of Jamaica
as a winter resort with its clean cities and delightful scenery of tropical vegetation. She recollected the hospitality of the inlanders and the main attractions which make it a worthwhile stop.
Miss Geisenheimer took her audience hurriedly through the Panama Canal, and then related the amusing experiences of an equalitarian initiation on board ship for all passengers who have never crossed the Equator. The initiation, she said, consisted of a mock court by King Neptune who inited new members to the Royal Order of the Bath by smearing
their faces with pumpkin pie, breaking fresh eggs over their heads and throwing them in the ship's pool, to the accompaniment of laughter by the spectators.
Reminded of Orient.
Guayaquil, Ecuador, reminded the enthusiastic speaker of the Orient. Native rafts, row on row, lined the harbor crammed with tropical produce for other lands.
Junks, small boats, and steamers reared forests of masts on which harbor salesmen, and residents of house boats displayed and sold their wares. Cocoa chocolate the streets and bamboo laths proved the most expeditious bulwarks for frame houses, she said.
Lima, Peru, Miss Geisenheimer
associated with historical accounts of Pizarro. Accordingly she was given the privilege of witnessing Pizarro's mummy in the ancient and great twin-towered cathedral of Lima, over 400 years old. The mummy, she claimed, did not resemble the Egyptian types, and the human form was plainly visible.
Miss Geisenheimer confined her impressions of Chile to scenery, the like of which she insisted was matchless anywhere. Her word pictures of quiet Chilean lakes surrounded by beautiful trees, and the giant Andes' snow-capped peaks casting their reflections in the water compared favorably with American impressions of the Swiss Alps. She said that German settlers in the area have in truth
imported to the Chilean lake country, an Old World flavor.
Crossed Andean Barriers.
Her party crossed these high Andean barriers in automobiles at 3300 feet to the frontier of Argentina, and proceeded on a jerky
two-day railway journey across the Patagonian Pampa to the brilliant South American metropolis, Buenos Aires.
The speaker elaborated her talk on Buenos Aires spending nearly half her entire time describing its countless charms. To Miss Geis-enheimer, Buenos Aires was a vale of paradise, a beautiful city of 2-500,000 people free of smoke, clean, with palatial buildings, wide avenues, and artistic mosaic-patterned sidewalks of colored stone.
In the plazas of Buenos Aires great avenues, stood magnificent statues of famous men in all nations, the gifts of these nations whose emigrants have built Argentina. She recollected gardens of rose-covered pergolas, statuettes and graceful fountains of white marble, and benches in geometrical pattern, Roman and French gardens with walls overhung by garlands and tresses of multi-colored flowers which grew in wild profusion all over Buenos Aires.
Her audience listened elated by tales of the great zoo and aviary of Buenos Aires, and the botanical gardens where animals, birds and plants from all the western hemisphere were assembled. She carried her audience through a fairland of racing parks, beautiful horses and balustraded promenades on the edge of the broad Plata, 125 miles wide at its mouth. Her audience visualized colored pigeons, grandiose theatres
luxuriously furnished where Caruso sang, and the exquisitely Spanish carnival ball, a pageantry of costumes and dancing unequalled
in all South America.
She transported on the magic carpet of her words, her listeners to the inland estancias of the fertile pampa with their broad acres and white, well-kept buildings
loaded with grain and animals.
Then Miss Geisenheimer left Argentina and its pleasant memories, and whisked her audience up the coast of Brazil to the great coffee centers of Santos and Sao Paulo.
At these cities she said warehouses were crammed with 25,000,000 sacks of unsold coffee, which was being burned for fuel in the region.
The coffee surplus in Brazil resembles the peculiar phenomena of want in the midst of plenty in the United States. The speaker described the vast snake farm in Sao Paulo, where poisonous reptiles are gathered from their death-dealing business in the coffee fields. The snakes are experimented on at the laboratories by scientists who are formulating a serum from the venom of these snakes to counteract its poison.
At this point to the disappointment of her listeners, Miss Geis-enheimer ended her pleasant travel-ogue, and kept her alluring story of the Amazon country for another time. The guests departed for their homes expressing their appreciation of Miss Geisenheimer
for her vivid description, and Mrs.
Shaw for her charming hospitality.

HARMON NEWS

Harmon — Mrs. John Stein and daughter of Sterling spent Wednesday here at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Luther Schneider, leaving in the evening for an extended visit in the south with relatives and friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Powers and children and Mrs. E. T. McCormick motored to Amboy on Friday evening.
The Junior-Senior banquet and prom, given in St. Mary's auditorium Wednesday night was a social function equalling the excellent ones given in years previous, and was largely attended. It was featured by exquisitely artistic settings and decorations in the class colors
of pink and blue, and illuminated in Oriental fashion. Lovely musical numbers and brief, appropriate talks were made. Robert Regan was table chairman, Mr. A. J. Burns, Rev. John T. Smith, pastor and assistant at St. Mary's and other clergymen were present.
The auditorium was converted into a beautiful indoor garden enclosed by a dainty lattice fence with Oriental gateways, trimmed in pink and white spiral branches and blossoms intertwined. The ceiling was in graceful festoons of pink, blue and white crepe paper, with Chinese lanterns and groups of several colored balloons suspended in the center of the area was a simulation of an old fashioned well.
The stage was decorated to harmonize. The tables were arranged in a giant octagon, glistening in silverware. A delicious dinner was served by the ladies of the parish.
The table chairman's address of welcome by the Junior's to their guests, the Seniors of 1935, was very well put. Joseph Smidebush gave a very fine response for the Seniors, in which he recognized the last assembly of the classes together as a complete company.
A violin duet was rendered by Wayne Wohl and John Connelly.
Jay MacLarty and George Gronis sang. Dr. William Rock of the school board, made an appreciative talk with good suggestions. Rev.
Ambrose Wietekamp, a former assistant pastor of St. Mary's spoke, as did also Rev. John Egan, another curate of former days. Mr.
Burns closed with a few remarks.
Dancing occupied the remaining period of pleasure by the students.
The graduates from here were:
Miss Eileen Long, Miss Margaret
Keenan and George Miller.
Edward McCormick was a business caller in Sterling the latter part of the week.
Mrs. Joe Fitzsimmons is entertaining her uncle at her home for

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dean motored here from Milledgeville and spent a couple of days with her mother, Mrs. Anna Porter.
Mrs. Roman Malach and daughter were callers Saturday in Dixon.
LeRoy Kent was a business visitor in Dixon the latter part of the

McReynolds Defeated John Pea of Moline in Feature of Last Night's Ring Show

Second Airport Card Drew a Capacity Crowd of Fans

Rink-Witzleb Golfers Ready For New Match

As a feature to a series of clean, rousing boxing matches at the Airport Friday night, Elwood McReynolds, Dixon's "Black Menace" belted out a decision over Johnny Pea of Moline in a five round bout. Officiating the seven bout card were Cal Tyler, judge, Tim Sullivan, timekeeper, Jack Sharkey, referee, and James Bales, judge.

The McReynolds-Pea encounter opened with lightning speed as both fighters pranced in to mix. Pea seemed to enjoy the upper hand the first round jabbing into McReynolds for several powerful punches. The Dixonite's superior speed, however, kept him free of Pea's most devastating blows. In the second round Pea knocked McReynolds into the ropes, but the local boxer stunned Pea with a devastating right a moment later. The Golden Gloves champ then drove Pea into the ropes with a volley of trip-hammer punches. In the third round Pea was worn out and groggy, using most of his efforts in dodging McReynolds' lightning punches. He slipped and fell once, just holding on to a thread of consciousness of the dancing black figure before his glazed eyes. In the fourth round Pea was floored for a nine count, twice, and absorbed brutal punishment, and the fight was awarded to McReynolds, an a decision basis.

Kobberman Won
In the 160 pound class semi-windup Henry Kobberman of Tampico and Kild Marple of Dupue battled to a decision for Kobberman. The first round was uneventful, with both parties parrying for blows. Marple waded into Kobberman with vicious lefts in the second frame but in the third, Kobberman came back strong with body punches to take the decision.

The first bout of the evening matched Felcher Spotts against Peter Hampz of Moline. Spotts hooked his foe in the first round but his wind gave out in the succeeding rounds and the decision was awarded to Hampz.

The battle between Pat Lucas of Moline and Maurice Stunkel of Rochelle in the 147 pound class was thrilling. Lucas landed heavy blows countered by Stunkel's strong left in the first round which drew blood from his opponent's body, face and head, but Stunkel fought with confidence and kept plodding at his opponent who flayed several wild rights at Stunkel's head. The Rochelle boy wore out his opponent in the second, and in the third Referee Sharkey stopped the fight when it appeared Lucas was being pounded unmercifully by his stronger and cleverer opponent. The crowd booed Sharkey's decision.

Caulde Kayeod
Louis Visconti of Moline and William Caulde of DeKalb provided a fast bout in the 142 pound class. Visconti measured his foe in the first round, found his range in the second and floored Caulde in the third, for a knockout, as the result of a right uppercut which was believed to be a foul but later ruled legitimate.

In the 120 pound class Ernest Spahn, Moline, and Young Stunkel speedy Rochelle featherweight mixed gloves. Stunkel easily won by a technical knockout in the first round.

In the 135 pound class Sam Karben was awarded a decision over Ed Martinitis, Dupue lightweight champion, very unpopular to the crowd, which booed the verdict lustily.

$5000 WESTERN HANDICAP WILL BE BIG FEATURE

Chicago, June 8—(AP)—Turf memories, dormant more than 30 years, will be revived at Washington Park today, when a field of nine of the fastest stake horses in America goes to the post in the 17th running of the $5000 added Great Western Handicap at a mile and a furlong.

The race, last run in 1903, held the distinction of being one of the country's most famous turf fixtures. Top Row, holder of the world's record at 1:42 for a mile and a sixteenth, probably will go to the post the favorite.

The field will include Late Date, winner of the Inaugural Handicap at Latonia; Tearout, winner of the Latonia Derby; Gusto, former winner of the American Derby and Arlington Classic; Evergold and Biff, already winners of two handicaps at Washington Park.

Plans Suit To Halt Baer-Braddock Bout

Dallas, Tex., June 8—(AP)—J. Curtis Sanford, Tyler, Texas, oil man and flight purveyor, said here today he would confer with attorneys in New York Monday on plans for a suit to stop the Max Baer-Jammy Braddock heavyweight championship fight scheduled for next Thursday night.

The action will be based on a contract by which, he said, Baer agreed to appear in an exhibition bout in Birmingham, Ala., under Sanford's promotion, before risking the title.

Stories in STAMPS

A LAWRENCE OF THE CONGO

In the United States, Sir Henry Morton Stanley is known as the soldier of fortune and newspaperman who was given the assignment to find David Livingstone, the explorer lost in the jungles of Africa, and who rescued Livingstone from the savage natives. But in Belgium, Stanley is the man who, on a later voyage, made friends of the Congo valley tribes, established trading posts for European governments and obtained nearly 4000 concessions of land from chiefs of the various tribes. These concessions he turned over to King Leopold of Belgium, as nucleus of what later became the Congo Free State under the protection of Belgium.

In commemoration of the founding of the Congo Free State, Belgium in 1928 issued this stamp in Stanley's honor.

OWENS LOOKING TOWARD EVENTS ON WEST COAST

Prize Track-Field Ace Seemed Savin Self for Berkeley

Milwaukee, June 8—(AP)—James Cleveland (Jesse) Owens, who in one season of college competition has become the country's prize track and field ace as well as gate attraction extraordinary, apparently is looking ahead.

Perhaps the thrill of smashing records in a wholesale way has worn off since he bettered three world marks and tied another to astonish the track world in the Big Ten meet at Ann Arbor, Mich. two weeks ago. Perhaps the damp night air last night in the tenth annual central intercollegiate conference title meet at Marquette Stadium had something to do with it—but Jesse seemed to be saving himself for the tough assignments of the N. C. A. A. meet at Berkeley Calif., June 21-22, and the National A. A. U. championships at Lincoln, Neb., July 3-4.

Only once, as he led his Ohio State University team to the C. I. C. championship last night, did he appear to be letting go as he did at Ann Arbor. He streaked down the runway in the broad jump and bounded away to a great leap of 26 feet 2 1/2 inches to better for the second time in two weeks the accepted world record of 26 feet 2 1/8 inches set by Chuhei Nambu of Japan. The jump, however, was not quite so fancy as his 26 feet, 8 1/4 inches in the Big Ten meet.

Clocked 9:5 Seconds
Without extending himself too much, the Buckeye Negro won the 100 yard dash in 9.6 seconds, and came from behind with a terrific burst to win the 220 yard dash in 21.8 seconds. He has hit 9.4 for the century on several occasions, and has a stunning 20.3 seconds up for consideration as a world mark.

The Buckeyes scored 31 points in succeeding Indiana's C. I. C. team winner, and Wisconsin and Indiana gave the Big Ten the next two places with 29 1-4 and 24 1-2 points respectively.

Owens' broad jump was a new meet mark, replacing the 24 feet made by George Meagher of Notre Dame last year. Dan Caldemeyer of Indiana galloped the 120 yard high hurdles in 14.7 seconds for another meet record, and Billy Zepp, Michigan State Normal's fleet distance man, won the two mile in 9:18.3, for a third record. Mark Panther, Iowa javelin thrower, boosted his own meet standard from 211 feet, 11 inches to 214 feet 8 inches and the Iowa half-mile relay quartet won its event in 1:27, shaving four-tenths of a second from Marquette's former record.

HELEN WILLS IS VICTOR IN HER FIRST TOURNEY

Overpowered British Opponent in Final Match, 6-0; 6-4

Weybridge, Eng., June 8—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody captured the St. George's Hill tennis tournament today, trouncing Mrs. Elsie Goldsack Pittman of England in the final round, 6-0, 6-4.

Playing in her first tournament since a back injury forced her to default to Helen Jacobs in the final round of the American championships in 1933, Mrs. Moody overpowered her British opponent with a siege-gun attack for which Mrs. Pittman had no adequate defense.

The 29-year-old Californian raced through the opening set, dropping only 11 points. She ran into a 4-1 lead in the second set before Mrs. Pittman got under way. The English girl rallied to draw within one game at 5-4, but Mrs. Moody applied the pressure again to take the tenth game, set and match.

It was the third successive tournament in which Mrs. Pittman has been a finalist, and the third in which she was beaten.

REDS BREAK LOSS STREAK BEAT PIRATES

Hafey Is Threatened With Suspension For Leaving

(By HUGH S. FULLERTON)
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The Cincinnati Reds undoubtedly have missed the clouting of Chick Hafey as well as his steady influence since the veteran outfielder was taken sick a month ago, yet it may have been more than a coincidence that his abrupt departure from the scene of their activities coincided with the end of their seven game losing streak.

Whether or not they were peeved about Chick's unannounced decision to return to California in search of better health, the Reds pounded the ball like an inspired club yesterday as they blasted out a 13-4 seven-inning victory over Pittsburgh's Pirates and returned the losers to third place in the National League standing.

All Joined Assault
Every member of the team except Pitcher Paul Derringer took part in the assault which netted 15 hits before rain halted the activities after the seventh.

Hafey, meanwhile, was threatened with a fine and suspension by General Manager Larry MacPhail, who said he had no notice of the outfielder's departure and that Chick had been ordered to report for a physical examination Wednesday. After building up a .339 batting average in the first 15 games, Hafey was laid up with a cold and a recurrence of the sinus trouble that resulted in his sale by the Cardinals several years ago.

Cards Back to Second
With Pittsburgh's defeat, the Cardinals moved back into second place although their double header with Chicago was rained out. All that worked to the benefit of the league-leading Giants, who pulled out a hard won 3-2 decision over the Braves in ten innings after Mel Ott's tenth home run of the season had knotted the count in the ninth.

The other National league contest was a free-swinging affair in which the Dodgers put on two big rallies to defeat the Phillies 11 to 9 as the teams pooled out 14 doubles, 12 singles and three homers, including Johnny Moore's ninth of the season.

Chicago's White Sox protected second place from the Cleveland and Detroit threats as they edged out the Tigers 9 to 8 while the Yanks dropped a 2 to 1 mound battle to the Red Sox and the Indians and Browns game was washed out.

The Senators continued their new winning streak by scoring six runs in the seventh and bowling over the Athletics 11 to 6.

BABSON SAYS
BIG MARKETS
WAIT REVIVAL

Thinks Country is Definitely Headed Into Some Inflation

Babson Park, Mass., June 8.—In view of the recent supreme court decisions on the NRA, the Frazier-Lemke Act, and other matters, I believe that we are definitely headed into a period of either credit or monetary inflation. Although the supreme court has headed off the administration in some of its most important New Deal experiments, yet these decisions do not change the desires of the American people for a short cut to prosperity.

These decisions may even result in the president's relaxing his firm attitude against currency inflation. He may turn to it as his only method of quickly bringing back good times. Producing prosperity by currency inflation, however, is like showing a good bank statement by falsifying the books. On the other hand, if the president takes his cue from the court and swings toward the right he may create enough confidence among business men to get credit inflation under way. Hence, I believe we may be approaching one of the biggest booms in American history, although eventually we must face the day of reckoning. I am optimistic for the next few years however, owing to the great potential markets which exist today.

"Do Over" American Factories

In the first place there is replacement of worn-out machinery. Back in the prosperous twenties expenditures for machinery averaged $6,000,000,000 per year. In the course of the depression this total was slashed to $2,700,000,000 annually. The machinery trade has estimated that it would take $18,000,000,000 to make up this deficit and to put American industry back on an efficient operating basis. Being conservative, I would put the figure at $10,000,000,000. The same situation exists in all branches of the heavy or capital goods industries, such as construction railroad equipment, and the like, where the total deferred demand is estimated at about $49,000,000,000.

The railroad industry is very interesting from this angle. It is estimated that 15,000,000 or seventy-five per cent, of all freight cars now in use in the United States are more than twenty years old. Since 1929 only 160 locomotives have been ordered annually compared with 1000 in normal years. The same situation holds true of passenger cars. In fact, the large percentage of rolling stock today is hopelessly antiquated. The great savings possible by use of efficient rolling stock would go a long way toward putting the railroads back on their feet. Radical new designs of all railroad equipment, as typified by streamlined trains, are creating a tremendous market. The "if" in this situation is the fact that the railroads are as poor as church mice.

Markets of Construction Then there is the building industry. Volume of construction per year in normal times is figured at over $6,000,000,000. In the last three years it has averaged only a little more than $1,000,000,000 and fifty per cent of this was publicly financed. There are still limitless possibilities for public works such as prevention of soil erosion, reforestation, flood control, and the like.

These are now being tapped by the $4,800,000,000 Emergency Relief program. The Federal Power Commission reckons that $300,000,000 of new generating capacity is necessary to prevent a shortage of electric power when industry gets back to normal.

With the automobile becoming a constantly greater factor in American life, we have only scratched the surface of the potentialities of road building. As more super-highways radiate out from the cities, the suburbs will move further and further into the country, bringing radical changes in residential building. A deficit of about 300,000 homes per year has accumulated since 1929. This means that at the present time there is a shortage of over 1,000,000 dwellings, which, figured at the average cost per house built in 1934, means a market of $3,400,000,000! Furthermore, a large percentage of existing homes, as revealed by a recent survey, need a complete overhauling. Growing shortage of single dwellings and apartments are reported in half the leading cities.

Pre-fabricated House The development of the automobile industry was big factor in the prosperity of the twenties. There are today two potential developments in housing which may prove to be the "automobiles" of this recovery period. First is air conditioning. Introduced just prior to the crash, it remained in the experimental stages during most of the depression, but improvements have been made right along. Today air conditioning equipment is a practical product whose price is within the reach of a great many home owners. In time, air conditioning equipment in the average home will be just as common-place as a central heating plant is today.

The other possibility is the factory-built house. Already this type of residence has practical possibilities and is ready for marketing. These houses, built of steel, aluminum, asbestos, and other fire-resisting materials, are equipped with the most modern ventilating, electric, oil, and gas appliances. Delivered, erected and equipped at the price of $4000 to $10,000, these houses will have owners thousands of dollars not only in original cost, but in operation and maintenance. Then add to the possibilities of these embryonic industries the vast markets awaiting perfection of the "flying" airplane and the Diesel engine!

Credit Reserve Largest These developments are coming at a very fortunate time. Money is exceptionally cheap. Interest rates are at the lowest level in thirty years. Credit reserves are the greatest in our history. Today's gold holdings would permit a credit expansion to the amount of about $230,000,000,000 compared with an actual figure of $55,000,000,000 at the 1929 peak, and $43,000,000,000 at present. Business men have all the financial backing they need for tapping these great markets. If the administration would only forget for a while its "reform obsession" and emphasize recovery, business men would soon take heart again. Then the wheels of heavy industry would start moving, and the inevitable American boom would be on!

Business, as estimated by the Babson chart, now registers 22 per cent below normal, and 5 per cent below a year ago.

Shute Says Putting Control Lies in Loose Wrists

Denny Shute's putting ability won the $10,000 Los Angeles Open played in the rain in 1930.

Starting on the last round he sank a putt on the second hole that pulled him out of a jam.

"The second is a long 450-yard par four hole," Denny relates. "After a fair drive I hit behind my brassie second and knocked it onto the practice fairway. Using a No. 6 iron I reached the green and was but 20 feet from the cup. I putted the ball in for my four."

"Although I have changed my putting stance since 1930, the fundamentals of the stroke remain the same. I believe as long as the ball is firmly hit, and the putter swings on through toward the hole, taking the club back from the ball matters little."

"My advice to the player who is having trouble on the green is not to grip the putter too tightly. Grip it rather loosely, so that the wrists can act freely."

Milwaukee Youth Too Generous for Own Good

Milwaukee, June 7 — (AP) — Alexander Allen, 19, was too generous for his own good.

He was on his way to the state reformatory today because the shepherd dog of Mrs. Irma McBride didn't mark when a burglar broke in and took $18 recently. A jury convicted Alexander when they heard he gave the dog to Mrs. McBride a short time before the robbery.

Orabi, a small town in north-eastern Arizona, has been inhabited continuously since 1370.

Summer Sweethearts

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATHARINE STYKHURST beautiful 26 falls in love with MICHAEL HEATHERSOME owner of a riding school. Katharine's father is rich and her stepmother a snob.

ZOE PARKER Katharine's friend, has an unhappy love affair and is saved from suicide by young DR. JOHN KAYE.

Overhearing two detectives ask for Michael's address, Katharine rushes to warn him, although she has not seen him since his engagement to SALLY MOON, local coquette, has been announced.

Michael refuses to go away unless Katharine comes with him. They are married in an obscure little town. Then Michael insists on returning to face the detectives.

He learns he is heir to a fortune and title in Ireland. He is now aware of this, urges Michael to hasten the date of their wedding.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVII

MICHAEL shook his head. "We can't do that, Sally," he said rather heavily.

"Why not?" All girlish importuness, she faced him. "Why on earth can't we? Anyone here can take charge—Jerry or anybody."

Michael's face darkened imperceptibly.

"Oh, don't be stuffy about it, Michael, darling!" trilled the girl. "I'm not trying to boss you around. I'm just telling you how easy it would be."

Her voice took on a crooning note. "Imagine a honeymoon at sea—and at Buenos Aires I've always wanted to see M. Michael. We'd have glorious times." Her eyes glittered.

"Can't be done," the man told her. "Something came up today—important business."

"Really?" Her rounded face assumed a greedy, sly expression. "Tell me about it."

"I can't—yet." With sudden clarity and horror he had a vision of what the news might—what it certainly would mean—to Sally Moon.

Lady Carden—Sally as Lady Carden. Castles. Moats. A crest on her stationery.

Lord, he was in for it now, right enough!

If he could head off those detectives, if he could only prevent the news from leaking out before he broke the news of his marriage to this girl.

But how was it to be done? Frankly, Michael was daunted. He who owned to no fear in this world, quailed before the prospect of blinding feminine eyes, tears, reproaches.

"It's business I've got to see to tonight—right away," he improvised in haste.

She pouted. "You haven't been to see me since Tuesday."

"I know. Sorry," Michael said. "You aren't. You've been behaving—oh, dreadfully!" she reproached him. "Have I done any thing?" There was a good deal more of this. The man, feeling oppressed by her cloying possessiveness, managed somehow to get away.

"I've got to go into New York."

"Oh, Michael! I'll run you in and wait for you and then we can go some place to dance later."

It was always like this. Always. She didn't want to let him out of her sight.

He said, "Can't be done. It may take hours. All night."

SHE frowned, drawing her heavy brows together. Then she saw the prettiness, the coquetry was lost. You saw Sally Moon as she would be 20 years hence.

"That's funny. Queer business that takes all night. After we're married, darling, you won't be able to get away with this."

She smiled, and there was moon-ace behind her playfulness.

But she drove off, having secured his promise to come around to see her in the morning. She wanted to hear all about it, and he was to make arrangements about the South American trip.

"You're in a fix and no mistake, young fellow-me-lad," muttered Michael to himself.

Well, it had been his own fault. He had let himself be caught, and not entirely unwittingly. The night he'd gone back to her house from the Bath Club, the night she'd been giddy from too many cocktails, he had simply let her "get away with it."

He'd been too weak, too chivalrous to contradict her when she had announced they were to be married.

Now he must pay for that weakness and error. Just at first it hadn't been unpleasant to find himself "engaged" to this little warm, cuddling, confidential person with the large eyes and the rippling laugh. It had been flattering. Katharine had appeared to have forgotten he existed.

Katharine. His wife. It was all part of the dream.

He'd had to tell Katharine about the inheritance. It made him, all at once, worthy of her. He needed to be ashamed to take her hand in his, before her people. They couldn't say she was "marrying down" now.

But, on the verge of sitting down to write the important news to her (he thought he dare not risk another telephone call) he hesitated.

Why tell her? Why not wait and "spring" it as a most delightful surprise? Why not give it to her when he claimed her, as a very special "going-away present?"

That's what he would do.

TONIGHT he must go into the city and "find Mr. Downrigg—was that the name?—at the Waldorf and beg him to keep the facts out of the newspapers. For a while, at least."

Michael did not hear or see the people bending over him. He wandered in the corridor; in his dream Katharine's face was smiling at him.

He was young enough and new enough at his job to be interested and to be a bit romantic.

High School Notes Frank Holley and Earl Blekking Reporters

This is the last of the news reports of the high school. We appreciate the work of Georgia Peterman, Pauline Kelley and other reporters who helped. Their names were not much in evidence, but their efforts showed. Miss Schmidt has also helped with her criticisms.

The news was started with the idea of telling folks interested in the high school about high school activities and problems. We hope this purpose has been fulfilled. People have expressed their interest in these notes, and we hope this interest will be continued in the schools. If the interest will further the efforts for a better high school, the editors feel the paper was worth all the work.—Editorial

Schools out! Already cares of lessons have been cast aside for vacation pleasures. We wish all the students and teachers a pleasant summer. The teachers go to various places. Miss Lyford to her home in Port Huron; Miss Schmidt, her plans are indefinite, for part of the time to her home town of Charles City, Iowa; Miss Hunter, to a conservatory in Chicago for music courses; Mr. Hanson and Mr. Fox will take courses towards Master's degrees at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Fox will also direct the local band. Mr. Slothower remains in Ashton. Next year, he will be a full-time instructor in the schools of that place. Mr. Cozens of Milledgeville will take his place here.

At the last session of the school Friday, awards were made to boys on the track team, and also to those seniors who had won them in sports. A gold medal for the best record in track this year was given to Ralph Hanson. He has broken many of the local records and was one of the finalists in the state 100 yard dash. A silver medal for his record in the mile run went to Walter Gehrt. A bronze medal for the one making the first year record was awarded to David Studebaker. Dave will be one of the team's mainstays next year in the pole vault, high jump and broad jump.

Charles Lookingland, Lawrence Maronde, Jack Kelley, Leslie Henry and Walter Gehrt, received letters for their participation in school sports. Letters were also awarded to the senior members of the G. 1. Temperature

Any modern refrigerator will furnish refrigeration.

2. Moisture

Ice refrigeration alone keeps your food moist eliminating loss of flavor by drying out. Closing the food up in containers eliminates ventilation making a bad matter worse.

3. Ventilation

Ice refrigerators keep your food from odor-tainting. The constantly circulating odor-laden air from your food is cleansed by the moist surface of the ice, cleaning and sweetening the whole interior of the refrigerator.

The amount and character of these odors and gases given off are clearly shown as the slime that accumulates in the ice refrigerator drain, or when defrosting an electric refrigerator.
